VISION MANAGERS

Something in your business is quietly costing you money. I find it and fix it.

Bids written at midnight. AI pitches you can't tell apart. Subscriptions nobody uses. You get one person accountable for the strategy, the build and the result, including when the answer is not AI.

THREE WAYS I HELP. WHICH ONE SOUNDS LIKE YOU?

1 "I'll write the bid up tonight."

Your Bid Bot · for contractors and trades

A bid writer trained on your own past bids and rate sheet. Talk the job in from the truck and a formal bid in your format is drafted before you're back at the shop. You approve every number.

Within 5%

of what Wolf & Wolf actually charged when it re-priced their past roofs. Built from 600+ of their own bids.

2 "Three AI companies pitched me this month."

AI Strategy · for owners making an AI decision

Before you sign anything, I look at what you pay for now and what you're being pitched, and tell you what is worth it, what is cheaper and what to skip. When a tool is the right answer, I find the fit and stay accountable for the result.

$8,000 saved

for one insurance agency on an AI service they were already shopping for, plus about $6,000 a year off their phone bill.

3 "I know I should be using AI."

AI Training · for owners and teams barely using the AI they pay for

No tour of tools. Each session installs one skill on your own work, such as your proposals, your emails or your follow-up, and you leave using it. One-on-one or with your team.

$120,000 job

won by an electrician who built the proposal after one training.

WHAT CLIENTS SAY

"Honestly... I've never seen anyone do this."

Justin, a Tennessee remodeler, on his estimator

"YOU ARE LITERALLY A LIFE SAVER!!!!!!!!"

Piilani Benz, Alliance West Insurance, by email, on her phone and AI quotes

"[I]t probably would have taken me 13 to 15 months. And I did it in two."

David Vudragovich, group health agent, on learning AI in my weekly sessions
